

JESS W. LEVINS, ESQ.

Jess Levins' legal education began long before law school. "For most of my career, I was the person assigned to deal with the outside attorneys involving leases, contracts, litigation, employment agreements, acquisitions, divestitures, start-ups, negotiations, lawsuits and other legal issues," he explained.

Highlights of his business career include positions as project engineer for Procter & Gamble, chief financial officer for an international business providing mechanical contracting and engineering services to the petroleum and nuclear power industries; majority owner of a Miami-based company that at various times had distribution facilities in Florida, Nebraska, Texas and New Jersey, and 39 retail stores in Florida; and chairman of a member-owned buying group association with approximately 100 member companies. Along the way, he obtained a doctorate and two masters in addition to his undergraduate degree. Finally, he taught for several years as an adjunct professor, then determined it was time to go get the law degree he'd always wanted.

He acquired a Fort Myers law firm in 2006. Today, Levins & Associates, LLC, whose motto is "The Friendly Attorney You Can Talk To..." handles estate planning, wills, trusts, probate, corporate law, real estate, bankruptcy, foreclosure defense and Social Security Disability.

"I truly enjoy working with my clients and want my clients to be able to discuss their needs in a friendly and supportive environment," said Levins. "I have also had the pleasure of assisting and opposing a large number of fine attorneys that are simply good human beings."

Levins is the single parent of an autistic child and nearly all of his free time is spent caring for him. He also assists parents in addressing legal issues associated with their special needs children.

Finance, engineering and law are not his only talents. "I grew up on a farm in Plant City, Florida," he explained. "I can drive a tractor and brand a cow." |RG|
